HUGHES OR ROOSEVELT?

Republican and Bull Moose Conventions On This Week—Stanford
Sends Delegate to Latter.

The sole delegate that Lincoln county will have at any of the national conventions this week or next left for Chicago Monday afternoon. This was John N. Menefee, Jr., who is a delegate-at-large from Kentucky to the Progressive National Convention, which meets at Chicago tomorrow, the same time that the Republican national convention is in session. Mr. Menefee will take quite a vacation while away. From Chicago he will go to several points in Oklahoma, Texas, and New Mexico, where he has legal business.

The greatest interest is centering in the Republican National convention which convenes at Chicago tomorrow. Latest dispatches seem to indicate that Justice Hughes, of the Supreme Court will be the Republican nominee for president, if he can prove satisfactory to the Bull Moose and Roosevelt.

Mr. Menefee, who goes to the Bull Moose gathering is an uncompromising Roosevelt man all the time.

The Chicago Tribune, the leading newspaper of Chicago and perhaps the leading newspaper of the nation says Tuesday that a coalition has been formed against Hughes which has grown to over 500 delegate votes. It will assert that Cummins and La Follette, with their delegates have joined the movement which commits the delegates to select, in lieu of Hughes, some one of the favorite sons, regardless of the attitude of Roosevelt. In the Iowa meeting today Senator Kenyon made a speech against Roosevelt, and he is Cummins' spokesman. Dark horse talk still swirls around Senator Harding, of Ohio, as a compromise candidate.

If the Republican leaders have the notion that they can nominate Justice Charles E. Hughes for President without a complete and definite understanding with the Progressive National Convention, they will have to revise their plans. Hughes will be flatly rejected by the third party men unless he makes clear, without any pussy-footing or the use of weasel words, his position upon the paramount questions of foreign policy and military preparedness.

If the Republican convention sees fit to nominate some other than Hughes out of the favorite son group no matter what his name or upon what platform he is placed, Colonel Roosevelt will lead a third party movement again.

These two things were made emphatically clear Monday after there had been several gatherings of incoming Progressive leaders and a number of conferences had been held in the headquarters of Chairman George W. Perkins.

The unmistakable trend toward Hughes in the lobbies and headquarters continues and for that reason the explicit utterances from the Progressives' capains are all the more valuable. Through some unaccountable channel the erroneous statement has been sent forth that the Supreme Court Justice is the only member of the Republican group of candidates who will be acceptable to Colonel Roosevelt. This may be responsible for the enthusiasm with which the suggestion of his nomination is received by the patronage hungry element of the party which desires to win, even if the devil himself has to be drafted as the candidate.

TEDDY NOW FAVORITE.

For the first time since the betting campaign on the nominations for President by the Republican party was opened in Wall street the financial district Saturday made Theodore Roosevelt its favorite in the money. One bet of $5,000 even on him was reported by one of the betting commissioners on the curb, who later said a flood of money was ready to be let loose at 4 to 4 on Roosevelt's chances. Mention was made of $100,000 at those odds by one banker. The same commissioner reported a strange disappearance of Hughes money, in evidence so abundantly earlier in the week. That was attributed largely to the recent utterance by the Justice that no man had been authorized to act for him in respect to any nomination for President. Odds against the compromise candidates remained unchanged, supporters of Fairbanks demanding 15 to 1 against their choice, with 8 to 1 being the best offered.

KENTUCKY BUSINESS FINE

Says L. B. Lowenthal, Well Known Drummer Who "Makes" Stanford.

L. B. Lowenthal, one of the best known drummers who makes this territory, gave his Kentucky business a big boost in an interview in a Knoxville paper last week. The paper said: Mr. L. B. Lowenthal, of Daniel Briscoe Co., is just in from his Kentucky territory getting up fall samples, and talks interestingly of conditions in the State. He says that in spite of high prices, goods are selling better than before and that the demand is growing for goods of the better grades. The reason he gives are the people have the money to pay for what they want, and the merchants are doing all they can to supply what their customers may call for. He reports excellent conditions in all lines of business. The mines are running full time, timber business is on a boom, road building is giving profitable employment to many people and increasing sales of many products. Three hundred thousand dollars is being spent for road building in Pulaski county alone. Farm products bring high prices, this being especially true of grain and live stock. Sheep raising is an important industry in some parts of the State, and wool is selling for 42½ cents a pound the wool from a sheep bringing as much in one season as a sheep sold for a few years ago.

Mr. Lowenthal states that the demand for better goods in all lines is giving him the best business he ever had, and his house is prepared to fill orders and make prompt deliveries. He says that orders have been filled this year with better results than ever before, there being fewer complaints and more satisfactory business all around.

He has booked more orders for fall than in any other time in the history of his business, he says, for this season of the year, and regards the outlook for fall trade the best we have ever had.

affliction take it to the Chautauqua, and when you return to your home you will not only be cured, but will not remember that there is such a thing as a grouch.

Bilious Attacks

When you have a bilious attack your liver fails to perform its functions. You become constipated. The food you eat ferments in your stomach instead of digesting. This inflames the stomach and causes nausea, vomiting and a terrible headache. Take Chamberlain's Tablets. They will tone up your liver, clean out your stomach and you will soon be as well as ever. They only cost a quarter. Obtainable everywhere.

"AFTER" THE NEGRO DOCTOR

Of Somerset, Who Has Treated Several Patients from This County.

Several Lincoln county people have been treated by the colored doctor in Pulaski county, whom an effort is being made to "put out of business" by the officials. Suit has been filed against him, which will help to advertise him and get him business as it did the late Charley White-Moon of Louisville. The Somerset News says of the suit against the negro physician there:

Attorney General M. M. Logan has filed a suit in the Pulaski Circuit Court asking for a restraining order to prevent Dr. J. S. Anderson (colored) from practicing medicine in the State of Kentucky. The trial was set for Thursday of last week, but upon agreement of both sides the case was postponed until July 18. The state is being represented by Commonwealth's Attorney Flippin and J. N. Sharp and the defendant by O. H. Waddle & Sons and Judge Jarvis. It promises to be a very bitterly fought case and will likely be long drawn out. The petition filed by the attorney-general states that Dr. Anderson, is maintaining a nuisance by running the sanitarium at Ferguson, that he is practicing without authority from the State Board of Health; that he has no license and has passed no examination, and has no diploma from any reputable college; that he is just an ignorant, illiterate, common, colored man, and has no knowledge of medicine. Accompanying the petition are several affidavits from people whom he has treated, stating that he does them no good whatever, and that they are much worse since taking his medicine.

Dr. Anderson came here from Kingston, Tennessee, where he had a sanitarium and where he says he treated 33,000 people in one year. He was finally forced to leave Tennessee by a ruling of the Court of Appeals of that State. The case there was long drawn out and bitterly fought, and Anderson says his attorney's fees and court costs were something like $35,000. When he was forced to leave Tennessee, he came to Somerset and opened a sanitarium at Ferguson, at which place he has been practicing.

The Tennessee papers have been full of sensational articles concerning Anderson and his conduct while in that state.

CANDIDATES AT RICHMOND

Montgomery and Helm Both Shaking Hands With Voters Monday

Congressman Harvey Helm came in from Washington Monday night, as congress is doing very little for two weeks during the national conventions. He spent most of Monday at Richmond, mixing with the voters and motored from there with Mr. H. J. McRoberts, Miss Anne D. McRoberts and Miss Mary Bruce, who went over after him. Mr. Helm will put in his time while in Kentucky looking after his political fences. His opponent for the congressional nomination, Senator Charles F. Montgomery, of Casey, has been making a quite but effective campaign over the district, and his friends say he is well pleased with assurances of support which he is receiving. Accompanied by Col. T. Latest War News

German and British battle fleets have clashed in what appears to have been the greatest naval battle in history.

According to Berlin the sea fight resulted disastrously for the British who lost one of their latest dreadnaughts, two battle cruisers, two armored cruisers and numerous smaller craft, while a large number of British battleships were damaged.

The Germans admit only the loss of one battleship and a small cruiser, while the fate of one cruiser and of some torpedo boats is unknown.

The British admiralty announces that a battle occurred in the North Sea between the British and German fleets, in the course of which a number of German and English ships were sunk.

The British battle cruisers Queen Mary and Indefatigable and the battleship Invincible were sunk and cruiser Warrior was disabled. The German losses are described as serious by the English report.

The announcement says two German battle cruisers were sunk and two German light cruisers were disabled and probably sunk.

The British destroyers Tipperary, Turbulent, Fortune, Sparrowhawk and Ardent were lost and six others have not yet been accounted for, says London. The admiralty announcement says no British battleships nor light cruisers were sunk.

The battle occurred off the coast of Jutland. The English admiralty announcement says the German fleet avoided the main British forces and returned to port severely damaged.

According to Berlin the British dreadnaught sunk was the Warspite of the Queen Elizabeth class, a 27,000-ton vessel, and the battle cruisers Queen Mary and Indefatigable were sunk. The British battleship Marlborough is reported to have been hit by a torpedo.

German warships rescued parts of the crews of the sunken British sea fighters says Berlin. It is declared that only two of the crew of the battle cruiser Indefatigable were saved.

The engagement took place during the afternoon of May 31, and it continued during the night. The German fleet apparently put out from the Baltic and encountered the British between Skagerak and Horn's Riff in the North Sea. The Germans returned to their home base June 1, according to the German statement.

Further progress has been made on the Verdun front in the Vaux section, according to Berlin, and French counter attacks have been repulsed.

Revised reports concerning the great North Sea battle show that the British and the Germans each lost a total of fifteen war craft, but that the British losses were greater in tonnage. These reports cause the British public to believe that the engagement was not so near a defeat as first appeared, and that supremacy is still held by a safe margin. On one fact, whether the Germans reported the main British fleet, the reports contradict each other flatly, Berlin claiming that the enemy's grand fleet was in action and London denying it. About 4,000 British seamen went down with their vessels.

MISS NOE'S FINE WORK.

The Cincinnati Times-Star had the following of the work of Miss Emma Noe, who visits Miss Berta Jean Penny here frequently, in the Cincinnati May Music festival. "Act third from Meyerbeer's 'L' Africaine' was undeniably the most successful and the most correct of the three scenes presented. Miss Emma Noe, as 'Selika,' made a veritable sensation. Miss Noe began as a mezzo, but with the characteristic uncertainty which attends so many young American voices, has developed into a real dramatic soprano with a splendid register and an actual dramatic talent. Her extremely beautiful voice was admirably suited to her role, her rapid advancement artistically and vocally over her performance of one year ago, when she sang 'Amneris,' almost incredible."

Mrs. C. G. Ware returned home Thursday after a pleasant visit with her daughter, Mrs. James Wyatt at Tatesville.

Restored to Good Health

WANT PORTMAN AVENUE OPENED

Citizens Appear Before City Council and Show Many Advantages to Accrue to People.

A good-sized delegation of residents of the northern section of the city, appeared before the City Council at its regular meeting last Thursday night and petitioned for the opening of Portman avenue clear through from Lancaster to Danville avenues. It was shown that more than 75 school children live north of the railroad and have to cross it twice a day to get to school, who would be directly saved from such attendant dangers by the opening of the street. But three property owners are affected by the proposition, it is said, and those who are behind the movement, say that the opening of the street will greatly benefit the property owners on the street, open up a number of valuable and salable building lots as well as prove a benefit to the community as a whole and a progressive move on the part of the city. It is reported that two of the property owners affected have offered to donate the right of way thru their holdings. The Council appointed a committee composed of G. B. Cooper, J. C. McClary and Will Stone to make a thorough investigation and report to the next council meeting.
